

European Microscopy Congress 2012

emc2012 will be held in Manchester, UK on 16 - 21 September 2012

The UK microscopy community looks forward to welcoming you to Manchester in September 2012. With an international conference of the highest quality sitting alongside Europe's largest exhibition dedicated to microscopy, it promises to be a truly memorable event. Added to this will be great training opportunities, a programme of technical workshops, and a full social programme.

Put the date in your diary and start looking forward to a true festival of microscopy in one of the world's most famous and beautiful cities.
